Orchids to Dana Hammond for a deviation in service club programs. The Swiss yodelers were a welcome interlude to a monotonous forenoon froth which has followed me with a relentless, seemingly without end. The change came as sweet music to an ear attuned to voice and instrumentation in such delightful harmonic accord. All that I missed was my good friend Sir Fluor. Swiss yodeling is as different from hillbilly o-lee-o's as a cowboy is from a top-hat politician. There was such a wholesomeness and sincerity about the performers that it was a refreshing change from much of the slime pushed into the stream of public entertainment. More power to producers and agencies who want to give us a clean bill of cultural health. Let us have more music and less rhetorical "rhubarb."

Charley Courts was right again. Pat Doane is in Mt. Carmel, Ill. I received a card from him yesterday, signed, "J. JONES."

Well, if we can't get any rain, fog helps. But it is usually too high to get much of a close acquaintance. What orange ranchers want is a good soaking rain to cleanse the trees and save irrigation expense, and put a smile back on the face of the men who own the groves. Bean harvest is now complete and rain can do a lot of good and no harm. I have a prediction in front of me which says we may expect rain the 23rd of the present month. That's Saturday and it would interfere some with business, but it will make more business later on. So I guess it will be all right to send the rain.

If the contractors get North Main street much smoother, they will change it from a roller coaster to a roller skating speedway.

Ed. Yost has come home from a trip to Denver, where he visited his dad and inspected mining properties. He was in Evanston, Wyoming, near the scene of the airplane tragedy. Ed, in a burst of homecoming enthusiasm, said he was glad to see me. I'm expecting something else three days later.

Forrest Jones made a business call at the police station a few days ago. He wanted to tell 'em a story. He bought a nice new car for the store, and it cost him more than a penny. Forrest thought it was good enough to insure, so he put protection on the automobile. The policy had hardly been delivered when some one took the car. That is what sent him to the police station. It turned out to be a case of mistaken identity. A Laguna citizen thought the car belonged to his son, so he got in and was half way home before he discovered that he was driving some other fellow's property. A telephone to the police station cleared up the mystery of what looked like a stolen car. So all's well that ends well.

I wouldn't say that George Gunther ran out of gasoline, but he was carrying a can suspiciously like the ones which contain motive car fuel. Anyway, a short time later he was riding and smiling.

And then some one talked to me about the number of lottery promotions that were going on, what they cost, percentage of chances to win, and not anything about how many to lose, so I say I'm in a lottery now, and trying to find out whether we are going to have another freeze.

'Walking Bank' Steals $400,000

IOWA CASHIER JAILED FOR SHORTAGE

Money Spent in Stock Market, Confesses

BURLINGTON, Iowa. (AP)—Examination of the operations of William C. Kurlie, 52, who police said admitted the embezzling of $400,000 from the First National bank of Burlington, today led investigators to the conclusion for two years he was a "walking bank."

False deposit slips, they said, coupled with the practice of meeting large withdrawals of customers from his own pocket, enabled him to finance his stock market operations for two years unnoticed.

Kurlie was assistant cashier of the bank, and handled certificates of time deposit. The bank temporarily suspended operations yesterday when the shortage was discovered.

Deputy United States Marshal Charles Antles of Des Moines arrived here with a warrant charging Kurlie with embezzlement, but did not serve it.

County officers said they were not ready to release Kurlie. Directors of the bank began their investigation when Kurlie, with a gun in his possession, appeared at a garage late Tuesday after an absence of several days.

Mortimer Goodwin, cashier said he found a letter in which Kurlie purported to the embezzlement of approximately $400,000 of the bank's funds, "of which about $150,000 remain in my brokerage account."

At a Davenport brokerage office, it was announced since the recent crash Kurlie's holding had shrunk to a current value of about $40,000.

The bank yesterday attached all of his property.

High School Easy

Nine-year-old Alexander Hull, Jr., who skipped both kindergarten and grade school and entered public school for the first time as a freshman in the Corvallis, Ore., High school, learned to read and play the piano when he was four, now is more advanced than undergraduates in his father's college work. He plays the works of the master composers for the piano with ease and facility.

RACE TRACK FIGHT MAY GO TO COURT

Threaten to Carry Row to Supreme Body

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Aroused by declaration of martial law at the Narragansett race track, adjoining Pawtucket prepared today to carry its fight against Governor Robert E. Quinn's "flagrant and dictatorial abuse of power" to the United States supreme court, if necessary.

A short time after the executive, in a radio address, declared he ordered martial law at the Pawtucket racing plant as the only "way left to me to preserve the honor and dignity of the state" the board of aldermen and common council acted.

It named a special committee headed by Mayor Thomas P. McCoy to protect the "rights, lives and liberty" of Pawtucket residents and voted it unlimited funds to engage counsel to carry its fight, if necessary, to the nation's highest court.

In a resolution, the board criticized the governor's drastic action of last Saturday in sending the national guard to the racing plant, and asserted it had "deprived thousands of residents of the city of Pawtucket of the right and liberty" guaranteed to them by federal and state constitutions.

"It is the sworn duty," said the resolution, "of the duly elected representatives in the city of Pawtucket to resist by all lawful means the tyrannical abuse of power by the said Governor Robert E. Quinn and to protect the lives, liberty and property of the citizens of Pawtucket."

McCoy is a political and personal friend of Walter E. O'Hara, managing director of the race track, and lost the Democratic gubernatorial nomination last year to Quinn.

In carrying out his announced purpose of placing his battle with O'Hara before Rhode Island's citizenry, the governor, in a 30-minute address, denied charges that he had defied the state supreme court, which twice has given O'Hara decisions over the state racing commission.

FARLEY ADMITS NOTHING AT ALL

GORMAN. (AP)—Postmaster General Farley en route to Los Angeles:

"Stops at all the postoffices on the Ridge route. Shakes hands with residents of small communities. Mops his brow. It is hot today in the mountains."

At Gorman, this from a Los Angeles reporter:

"Mr. Farley, a recent magazine poll shows you high up in the list as a possible successor to President Roosevelt. What do you think about it?"

"I haven't seen the poll," replies Mr. Farley without hesitation, dabbling his forehead with a handkerchief.

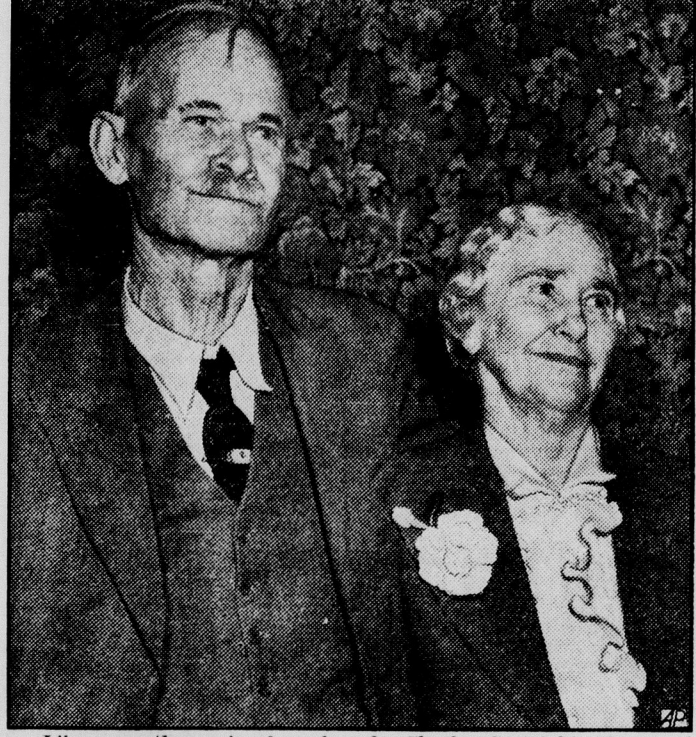

"Well, would you run for president if the Democrats wanted you?"

"I'm one of those people who believe in letting nature take its course."

"But you wouldn't deny you would run?"

"I've learned through the years that I shouldn't deny or admit anything."

They Set Up Housekeeping

Like any other pair of newlyweds, Charles Cortright, 77-year-old retired farmer and grandfather, and his bride, the former Mrs. Lydia C. Fuller, 67, a great-grandmother, have set up housekeeping in Sacramento, after an elopement to Reno. Their friendship, which blossomed into romance and was climaxed by marriage, began nine years ago in Kansas City.

Girl Sobs, Admits Shooting Lover

'SLAP' THIRD TERM PLAN

Say, Mr. Speaker William Mosley Jones. You sorta spoke out of turn when you launched your third term movement in Southern California for President Roosevelt. In fact, when you said the country might be better off if Roosevelt were a dictator, you shocked our staunchest Democrats down here.

Of course, you know how the Republicans feel. Oh, yes!

The Journal contacted several prominent Democrats and Republicans in Orange county, and just about all of them think your idea is a wash-out.

Yesterday you said you have agreed to head a third-term-for-Roosevelt movement, and that a large majority of American people are for it. You said useless and outworn traditions mean nothing. In fact, you went so far as to say, "We intend to let the world know that Roosevelt will be reelected if he wishes. Charges of dictatorship mean nothing. As a dictator of fact, the country might be better off if Roosevelt were a dictator."

Whew! That raised plenty of heck down here in Orange county. Listen to what these Democrats and Republicans say to your proposal:

Horace C. Head, prominent old-line Democrat: "I think William Mosley Jones, the speaker of the house, has gone off half-cocked. There is no call for such a movement. Jones is just seeking no-

L. A. Herald Boosts Price

LOS ANGELES. (Special)—Announcement was made today by the Los Angeles Herald-Express of an increase in circulation rates effective Nov. 1.

Home delivered copies will cost 90 cents a month instead of 75 cents, and street sales will be at the rate of 5 cents instead of 3 cents.

Rising costs in every direction—newsprint, materials, taxes and labor—is the reason assigned for the increase.

Ross Ransom Bill Discovered

CHICAGO. (AP)—A $10 note which had been included in the $50,000 ransom paid to the kidnapers of Charles S. Ross was turned over to federal authorities today.

The bill was produced by Mrs. Clara Ludwig, 41, of suburban Blue Island, who said it came into her possession Tuesday night and she had it "all this time without knowing."

Insurgents Take Control of Huge Northwest Area

IRUN, Spain. (AP)—Hundreds of war-weary government troops, beaten back to the sea by insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco's relentless army, laid down their arms to surrender the port city of Gijon at noon today.

News that this last important government-held city in all of northwest Spain had capitulated spread quickly through government forces in other sectors of Asturias province and squads of Asturian miners who had been besieging near-by Oviedo for more than a year marched forth to throw themselves at the mercy of the insurgents.

Franco's officers here declared they expected mass surrender of remaining government forces in the north within a few days.

Insurgent control of Gijon left the Valencia government troops holding only a tiny bit of Bay of Biscay coastline from Gijon west to a few miles the other side of Aviles.

Border reports were confusing regarding the situation in Gijon itself. Officers of six government planes which landed at Biarritz yesterday said Basques and Asturians fought in the streets before the city's surrender. Belandino Tomas, anarchist governor of Gijon, was reported to have fled to France.

A score of Spanish government trawlers tied up at Saint Jean de Luz and Bayonne, French ports, put out to sea shortly before noon with the intention of trying to rescue as many government supporters as possible from Gijon.

But as most of these vessels lacked radio equipment, Spaniards here feared they would fall into the hands of the insurgents before they learned Gijon had surrendered.

Insurgent officers announced liaison had been established between General Franco's troops in Gijon and the beleaguered Gijon. The announcement was interpreted as meaning government troops which had been besieging Oviedo since the start of the civil war 15 months ago had abandoned their efforts to capture it upon learning that Gijon had fallen.

Indications were that the insurgents would clean up quickly the remaining fragments of government territory in Asturias province and transfer the mass of troops from this area to eastern Spain for the impending major offensive there.

General Franco has been concentrating troops in the Aragon sector in preparation for a drive into Catalonia and Valencia. The insurgent command appeared hopeful it would be able to deal a decisive blow to these government centers before any appreciable number of foreign volunteers can be withdrawn from the civil war.

It had been General Franco's plan to settle this area to eastern Spain for the impending major offensive there.

Congress Cost Set at Million

WASHINGTON. (AP)—It's going to cost the taxpayers about $1,000,000 to bring members of congress back to Washington and pay them and their office workers during the special session.

On top of that will be expenses which cannot be estimated readily in advance, such as the cost of printing the Congressional Record. These additional items might bring the total cost to more than $1,500,000.

Find $674,209 Stolen Bonds

NEW YORK. (AP)—Stolen United States Treasury notes valued with their coupons at $674,209.29 were found today in a lock box in a subway station.

United States District Attorney Lamar Hardy and Reed Vetterli, local head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation announced the recovery. They said the notes were part of the loot of the Manhattan Company's Wall street branch Jan. 20, 1935.

The Manhattan Company bond theft totaled $1,456,000 and followed a similar theft of $590,000 from the United States Trust Company the preceding month.

Meyer Frankenberg, alleged to have been the principal in the Manhattan theft, pleaded guilty to a charge of transporting $440,000 in stolen bonds to France, where he was arrested. He is to be sentenced tomorrow.

Another Journal Scoop!

Coming tomorrow—the hit of the year—Prof. C. de Corn, The Journal's newest discovery in the field of new and second-hand economics! Prof. Corn will write a daily column of deep stuff on food, shelter and indulgences, milch cows and seed corn, and will throw in a few light touches on the evils of collective bargaining, civil service, cheap whisky and counterfeit money.

Watch tomorrow for the Professor's column, "Shearing the Good Things of Life." Don't pass up this chance to get an "edification" in higher economics and such stuff.

Mae West to Receive First Kiss— if censor approves

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—If the censors, bless 'em, let her get away with it, blonde Mae West of Brooklyn and Hollywood is all set to kiss a man and take a drink—for the first time—on the screen.

For all her vamping reputation, acquired in semi-naughty comedy, Mae has had to keep her movie characters as essentially pure as Little Eva ever since she scored back in 1933 in "She Done Him Wrong."

She is still pure in "Every Day's a Holiday," her current movie, but she hopes the censors won't mind if she gives venerable Charlie Winninger a sweet smack on the face.

As for hoisting a cocktail, why Garbo, Dietrich, Crawford and Colbert have been getting away with it for years.

Mae is playing an ingenious young lady named Peaches O'Day who sells the Brooklyn bridge to a Greek pushcart peddler for $200 on New Year's eve, 1899. In the course of events, she wears 17 Paris gowns and tries to speak French.

Q.—How can a girl get and hold a man?

She has been studying French for six months so her accent won't sound like Flathush. She's also been exercising down to 117 pounds on the theory that while curves are the most interesting distance between two points, they should be controlled.

All this has kept her busy, but not too busy to fill out a questionnaire for us. We handed it to her on the set this week. She knew all the answers:

A.—One good rule, I'd say, is not to let a man know you're smarter than he is. As for holdin' him—well, the best way is in your arms.

Q.—What should a man do, vice versa?

A.—There's nothing like diamonds, is my motto. They sorta keep a gal's attention from wandering off the subject.

Q.—Do you have any prize-fighters under contract?

A.—I never had had. My mother did, though—she married one.

NATIONAL G. A. R. CHIEFS TO MAKE FIRST VISIT HERE FRIDAY

LOCAL POST WILL HONOR DELEGATION

Commander Youngest Civil War Veteran

National officials of the vanishing host of famous "Boys in Blue" will make their first official visit to Santa Ana tomorrow. And members of Sedgwick post No. 17, Grand Army of the Republic, with its affiliated organizations, rushed plans to completion today to pay high honors to the high command of the veterans of the Civil War.

The delegation coming to Santa Ana tomorrow will be headed by Dr. Overton H. Mennet, Los Angeles, national commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic.

YOUNGEST MEMBER

Dr. Overton, who is nearly 90 years of age, is one of the youngest if not the youngest member of the G. A. R. in the nation, it was said. He enlisted in the Civil War when he was a lad of 14.

Col. Russell C. Martin, Los Angeles, past national commander-in-chief, will be another of the honored guests. Others will include John W. Grimes, Long Beach, department commander of California and Nevada, and George N. Lockwood, Los Angeles, past department commander.

The local Grand Army post, assisted by Sons and Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War and other affiliated groups, will help the aged veterans with ceremonies honoring the high officials. The meeting will take place in the M. W. A. hall at 7:30 p. m. sharp tomorrow. There will be no pot-luck supper, it was announced.

ONE ACTIVE MEMBER

Commander George D. Campbell of the local post will act as general chairman of the meeting. Out of a former membership of more than 600 in the local post, he is the only member left able to take an active part in G. A. R. affairs. There are but two other living members of the local post.

E. J. Parker will represent Commander Perry Grout of the Sons of Veterans. Others who will assist in the program include Ida Miller, of the W. R. C.; Lulu Blacketer, of Shiloh Circle; Nellie Parker, of the Daughters of Union Veterans, and C. F. Miller, of the Sons.

Mayor Fred C. Rowland will give the address of welcome.

FDR'S SON HAS NEW POSITION

WASHINGTON. (AP)—President Roosevelt set up his son and secretary, James, today as "a coordinator of the executive work of independent government agencies."

This description of his job was given by young Roosevelt as heads of nearly a score of agencies sat down at a White House luncheon to receive from him an explanation of the new program. He told reporters the President hopes the plan will cut down his calling list and increase the efficiency of the executive branch.

Montague Named Robbery Aide

ELIZABETHTOWN, N. Y. (AP)—Hollywood's John Montague was identified today as a participant in a $700 Adirondack roadhouse robbery in 1930 by a man who has served a prison term for the crime.

Roger Norton, 35-year-old Cleveland, Ohio, truck driver, once convicted of the crime, sat calmly in a witness chair and testified Montague, then known as Laverne Moore, was "accomplice in the roadhouse robbery."

SKINNY SKRIBBLES

(Continued From Page 1) very much perturbed. The other apparently indifferent. One of them had just taken the rap for a substantial sum. The other said he wasn't worried. That he took his in 1929, hadn't recovered, and didn't expect to. So he was still on the outside looking in.

And then there was the friend who let her foot rest too heavy on the accelerator, so she had to appear before the judge to explain why. The reason she gave the judge wasn't the reason she gave the boy friend. However, that didn't prevent a penalty which, by the way, was large enough to buy a lot of gas.

And then "Rich" Bassett comes in to tell me that he is going to open up an old business in a new way next Saturday. Had the Shell company doll up the old place at Seventh and Main with modern equipment and easy access facilities. "Rich" is a Boy Scout master for Kiwanis troop No. 23. He tried to adjust himself to the mercantile life, but found himself again leaning toward the oil business. So he's there again. Same old place, but in a new suit.

Death extended its long, bony hand to claim a small boy riding a tricycle across the South Main street-Cubana street intersection, last Saturday afternoon. The little boy was on an errand for the alert and skillful operation of a car driven by a young lady who jammed on the brakes as she suddenly and unexpectedly appeared in front of her. It looked like a hopeless case. Life won by a margin of seconds, and few of them. An observer who saw the lad make his first trip across the street commented on the danger, and prophesied a tragedy. His prophecy came near fulfillment on the return trip when the incident mentioned occurred. The little boy was on an errand for mother, who will probably never know how nearly she came to losing a son. Mother no doubt cautioned the child, but children forget quickly. Life won by a margin of seconds, and few of them. An adult has plenty of difficulty getting by.

New Gold Mine Discovery Told

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Incomplete assays from a shaft of the Pride of Mojave mine, in the Mojave desert district, were reported today to show $88.10 gold and $19.25 silver per ton. President John Dewar said a 15-foot vein of zinc and lead was present in the shaft.

BRITON LAUDS ACTION OF ITALIANS

LONDON. (AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, addressing commons at the opening of the fall session, today thanked Italy for making at the eleventh hour her new and "very welcome" contribution to Europe's program of non-intervention in Spain—by agreeing to preliminary steps for withdrawal of foreign fighters in insurgent armies.

Eden reiterated, however, Britain's determination "to maintain a right of way on this main arterial road"—the Mediterranean. Britain united, he continued, in wanting the government to take no sides in a purely Spanish matter but "there will be no indifference on the part of the British government where it is clear that vital British interests are concerned"—such as protection of her Mediterranean route to her colonies.

The foreign secretary declared that both Italy and Germany had "substantially modified their views" on the relation of dictatorial will of volunteers from Spain and the granting of belligerent rights to the Spanish combatants.

JONES HITS 3RD TERM PLAN

(Continued From Page 1) toricity for himself. We don't approve of third terms, or of dictators. And neither does Roosevelt. It's all bunk, and I don't approve of the movement."

Mrs. M. E. Geeting, prominent Democrat and secretary of the California Assembly of Democrats of Orange county, "Roosevelt himself will not consider a third term, and I think it would be unwise. There are so many splendid people interested in the same movement that Roosevelt is, and the Democratic party has greater material for the presidency than ever before. I don't think the dictator talk should even be considered. Roosevelt is not interested in being a dictator. He wants to know how the people feel, what they think and what they want, and that certainly is not the way a dictator thinks or acts."

Curtis Burrow, president of the Young Democrats club of Santa Ana, "I don't think it would be wise for Roosevelt to run for a third term, mainly because it would break historical precedent. Jones should not have made that remark about dictatorship in connection with Roosevelt. There is absolutely nothing to this dictatorship talk."

Howard Irwin, chairman of the Republican central committee: "I think such a statement is entirely un-American. This fellow Jones, it appears to me, is just an opportunist trying to take over a fictitious leadership. I can't imagine any man who is grounded at all in our American traditions, and who has been educated in our public schools, advocating anything such as this. You can tell him for me that I think he's nuts."

Col. M. B. Wellington, Republican: "It seems to me that he is urging something which is entirely un-American and contrary to the principles of both regular parties. He clearly is advocating a dictatorship. And I don't believe he will be sustained either by his own party or by the Republican party—certainly not the Republicans."

AWAITS FATE ON CHARGE OF BURGLARY

Seven men and five women were debating today the fate of Neal Sargent, former San Quentin convict who pleaded his own case in defending himself against burglary charges in superior court yesterday.

The jury retired at 10:29 a. m. today, following a finese by Sargent in which Deputy District Attorney Harold McCabe was prevented from making an argument to the jury.

As testimony was concluded yesterday afternoon, McCabe waived his opening argument to the jury. Sargent immediately waived his right to address the jury, and McCabe was unable to present a closing argument, which under law is rebuttal of the defense address.

Sargent, tall, slightly-stooped Southern youth, acting as his own attorney after having read law in the prison library at San Quentin, where he served a term for robbery, attempted to impeach testimony of Gilbert Wagner, merchant patrolman who arrested Sargent Sept. 2.

Hits Insurance Reserve Practice

BOSTON. (AP)—Judd Dewey, deputy insurance commissioner, today told a special investigating commission that insurance companies made more than a billion dollars profit in the last three years by using "obsolete" mortality tables.

Dewey said they used tables computed between 1845 and 1860 and still in effect despite great advances in life expectancy. "Using these obsolete tables," Dewey added, "insurance companies made a profit of $348,000,000 in 1934; $356,000,000 in 1935, and $380,000,000 last year."

FINDS MOTHER DEAD

NEW YORK. (AP)—Rose Silverman was merely curious when she shouldered into the crowd gathered about a woman who had been hit by an automobile in the Bronx yesterday.

Then she glimpsed the face of the fatally injured victim. It was her mother.

a dictatorship. And I don't believe he will be sustained either by his own party or by the Republican party—certainly not the Republicans."

DEAD POET BRINGS GRIEF TO RUSSIANS

SHANGHAI. (AP)—Japanese sentries thought someone was trying to pull a fast one today because Alexander Pushkin, Russian poet who died 100 years ago, did not show up to sign a moving permit.

Officials of the Pushkin School for Russian Boys explained that Pushkin was not the owner of the institution. They told the sentries the school merely was named for the world famous poet who died in 1837.

The soldiers just shook their heads and ordered four trucks moving school property from the Japanese-occupied Hongkew sector to the safety of the international settlement to go right back because Mr. Pushkin wasn't there to approve the transfer.

MARGIN HURTS STOCK LOSERS

(Continued From Page 1) Suppose that Joe Doakes wants to buy 10 shares of Consolidated Horsefeathers at $100 a share on a margin. He has to put up $500 and the broker lends him the remaining $450 to complete the deal.

Along comes a "crash" on Wall street and Consolidated Horsefeathers skids down to $600. Then Mr. Doakes' broker call up Joe and says "How about some more cash, say about $50, to reduce our loan to you?"

COASTS ALONG Joe can pay, fine. If he can't, the broker costs along for a while longer, but if Consolidated Horsefeathers drops some more in the meanwhile, he might be forced to sell Joe out.

It is the margin buyers who couldn't answer the call for more cash who have been hit to the tune of an estimated $10,000 in this county in the past few days. As for the stock owner who can answer the call, the situation is comparatively easy. He simply pays the broker what is asked and stays in the game. Sometimes, however, there is an expense attached to this. If he must borrow money from the bank or sacrifice some other holding to protect his interests, the costs should be added to the community loss.

INDIRECT HARM

Those fortunate people who hold their shares outright don't suffer at all when the market slumps, unless they sell out at a lower figure and take the loss.

They might "feel" poorer, of course, like everybody did during the depression, and they may make the old car last a year longer or do without a new suit of clothes or a weekend trip to Los Angeles.

It is this depressing result that probably causes more indirect harm to business than anything else.

For in a period of skidding stocks, you'll find that a lot of people do without the luxuries which otherwise they would have purchased.

LOUSIER MARGIN

The recent low prices, incidentally, have resulted in agitation for a lower margin than the 55 per cent prescribed at present. Theory behind this is that as the securities drop in market value, they represent more truly their actual bedrock worth, and therefore not so much margin should be required to handle them.

At the same time, there is considerable talk about getting the margin for "shorts" raised. This figure is now at 10 per cent. Proponents of the idea claim that the 55 per cent margin for longs and the 10 per cent margin for shorts give an undue advantage to groups which might want to depress the market.

And it is pretty generally suspected among the stock dabblers that part of this last crash has been due to just such manipulations.

FISHING TRAGEDY

SAN DIEGO. (AP)—Six days ago Glenn Johnson and James McCulley, experienced fishermen, left San Diego in the fishing boat, June, for a cruise to the Mexican fishing banks. Yesterday the June, half filled with water and deserted, was found drifting in the Pacific near here.

PLANES HEED WARNING IN SHANGHAI

SHANGHAI. (AP)—Chinese bombers flew over a new route today to avoid the international settlement in before-dawn raids on Japanese positions about Shanghai.

In previous raids the planes had crossed over the settlement and Japanese anti-aircraft shell fragments had sprayed foreign areas. Yesterday United States Ambassador Nelson T. Johnson made representations against this practice to the Chinese government.

Today the foreign population slept through the Japanese anti-aircraft fire, unaware that shells were bursting over Footing, along the new Chinese bombing route across the Whangpoo river from Shanghai proper.

Chinese bombs damaged a Japanese mill on the river bank and sent it to six buildings. The Japanese anti-aircraft fire apparently was ineffective.

Semi-official Chinese reports said a Chinese dare-to-die battalion raided a Japanese airfield at Yangpingkou in Northern Shanai province and destroyed 24 planes. One hundred Chinese were reported killed.

AWAIT ITALY ACTION IN 9-POWER PARLEY

ROME. (AP)—Officials said today Italy would send a "favorable" reply to Belgium's invitation to attend a nine-power conference seeking an "amicable settlement" of the Sino-Japanese conflict.

The fascist press still stuck to a slightly pessimistic tone regarding the impending conference. Emilio Mussolini's paper, Il Popolo D'Italia, of Milan, compared the attitude of the United States toward Japan in China with Great Britain's opposition to Italy in the Ethiopian venture.

Legion in Suit Over Speaker Bill

Santa Ana Legionnaires went to court today to fight a bill for $45 for rental of a loudspeaker in their hall.

The Foster-Barker Music company, represented by Attorney B. Z. McKinney, contends the lease under which the loudspeaker was installed was legal. Charles Swann, Legion attorney, is challenging the right of the music firm to sue under the lease.

Justice Kenneth Morrison, who heard arguments in the case, asked that it be submitted. After consulting cases referred to by the attorneys, he will rule on the suit.

Continue Hahn Murder Trial

CINCINNATI. (AP)—Virtually completing one phase of its case against Anna Marie Hahn, the state heard testimony today from A. O. Spriggs, Springfield, Ohio, chemist, that a hardening compound used in embalming Jacob Wagner was free of a poison later found in his body.

Judge Charles S. Bell indicated last night that once this was established, the state would have proved that Wagner, 78-year-old acquaintance of the woman, died of poison. Mrs. Hahn is charged with first degree murder in his death.

READY TO BRING YOU RELIEF IN MINUTES

THE REASON BAYER ASPIRIN WORKS SO FAST
Drop a Bayer Aspirin tablet into a tumbler of water.
By the time it hits the bottom of the glass it is disintegrating.
This speed of disintegration enables genuine BAYER Aspirin tablets to start "taking hold" of headaches and similar pain a few minutes after taking.

YOU can pay as high as you want for remedies claimed to relieve the pain of Headache, Rheumatism, Neuritis, Sciatica, etc. But the medicine so many doctors generally approve—the one used by thousands of families daily—is Bayer Aspirin—15¢ a dozen tablets—about 14 pieces. Simply take 2 Bayer Aspirin tablets with a half glass of water. Repeat, if necessary, according to directions.

TO DEDICATE BROADWAY ON OCT. 28

On the evening of Oct. 28, 8 o'clock the Breakfast club will sponsor a program appropriately dedicating the new Broadway, uniting with the merchants on that street in a celebration welcoming the completion of the new pavement. This outstanding civic improvement has been in progress for several weeks.

Under the immediate supervision of Hunter Leach, president of the Breakfast club, a program is being arranged which will fittingly recognize this completion. He will be assisted by the entire club membership. President Leach has arranged for the appearance of the American Legion Drum and Bugle corps, an exhibition drill by American Legion auxiliary drill team, a street dance free for public participation, and some 16 acts of vaudeville.

Owing to the uncertainty of weather conditions it has been deemed inadvisable to put on a street breakfast, so all the entertainment will be given in the evening, when everyone will be able to participate.

The street will be appropriately decorated, merchants will make suitable and attractive displays, and the time will be devoted to civic pride and community spirit.

ORANGE PRICES TAKE JUMP

Valencia oranges sold in September brought prices 48 per cent higher than the five-year average for that month.

This happy news was sent to Orange county citrus growers today by the California Fruit Growers exchange. The report said that the September prices this year were 8 per cent ahead of last year.

This was despite the fact that the movement of California oranges was much the lightest for that month since 1930, and sales 13 per cent below the five-year average. The f. o. b. price average per box was higher than any September since 1930.

The September orange market opened at a very satisfactory level, and gradually improved during the first two weeks. Thereafter with but slight fluctuation, values held fairly firm the rest of the month.

DENIES WATER IMPORT RUMOR

Rumors that S. P. Kraemer and Mrs. Angeline L. Backs, prominent Orange county ranchers, planned to import water into Orange county from the Chino basin were denied today by Kraemer.

Published articles that said A. C. Reynolds, president of the Chino Basin Protective association, will wage a determined fight against asserted plans of Kraemer and Mrs. Backs to transport water from the basin.

The article said that Kraemer and Mrs. Backs, owners of a 1600-acre ranch in the Chino hills, are reportedly preparing to pump water from the basin for its use. Kraemer told The Journal today that the movement started as a result of false rumors that they planned to import the water into Orange county. He said there is no truth in this rumor, and that they have had water on the 1600-acre ranch for 16 years.

FASHION CHATTER

As the fads and fancies of fashion revolve on the axis of time, we find ourselves rotating back to the year nineteen hundred for our newest in modes. Turn back the pages with me to a 1900 winter issue of that old established magazine, "The Ladies' Home Journal," and we shall see in what manner the great style centers of today have matched the fashions of that era.

In Miss Katharine de Forest's letter from Paris to "The Journal," she forecast the first new Twentieth-Century styles at the capital of fashion. In gowns, a craze was revealed for ornaments and trimming at the tops of skirts at sides, the skirts usually having tucks and plaits below the waist, some finished off with a velvet or ribbon band at the waistline. Cashmere was "in", and was said to be effective combined with taffeta. Gray and cherry were... highly trimmed boleros, some with lace collars were prevalent.

At the first large Parisian ball of winter, evening gowns were described as "never lovelier." Accorded pleated skirts were correct for formal wear, some forming tunic-like overskirts, shorter on each side than in front, with a pretty flounced underskirt of mousseline de soie, edged with ruching. An empire gown was described trimmed with paillettes and disks of gold. Breton blouses, chevrons and camels hair for coats... lots of black velvet and rhinestones, Louis XV coats, and one sketched which resembled very much our "jigger coat" of today.

Shoes could scarcely be detected, for skirts were long and trailing in contrast to our more abbreviated ones at present. Hats were merely heaps of stuff on heads, and we should feel fortunate that the style setters were a bit more discriminate in their selections for today, unconvincing as it may sound. Embroidery and braid, brilliant jewelry, and all the other dazzling lustrous touches were notable then even as they are now. Thus does Dame Fashion weave the past into the present.

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The Bruins of U. C. L. A. will enter their game with Washington State here Saturday in tip top shape.

The squad slackened practice today after intensive scrimmages. Several of the boys have bruises, but nothing serious enough to keep them out of the game.

The varsity, in the last hard scrimmage of the week, held the scrubs, using Cougar formations, to a mere first down, and ran over them for seven touchdowns. Outstanding was the passing of Kenny Washington, negro half-back star, who was throwing despite a bandaged finger.

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Thirty-eight football players of Southern California leave tonight for the northern sector and the crucial gridiron clash with California Saturday.

The team will detrain at San Jose tomorrow and go by bus to the Castledown country club, where practice will be held Friday.

Coach Howard Jones indicated his starting lineup would be the same as in past games this season, with the brunt of Troy's burden resting on the shoulders of Quarterback Ambrose Schindler.

Mrs. Reyer First At Willowick

Mrs. Fred Reyer, with a card of 105-20—85, won first place in blind bogey (83) at the Willowick golf course yesterday. Other winners were Mrs. P. A. Hooven, 109-23—86, and Mrs. Dewey Davis, 116-30—86.

FICTION-LIKE CLIMAXES ADD THRILLS TO U. S. FOOTBALL

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Their gridiron plots probably were not arranged that way, but many college football teams have been furnishing fiction-like climaxes to their games this fall.

Championship hopes in almost every conference have been dashed by late scoring sprees.

The forward pass, perhaps even more than in other years, has been largely responsible. The extra point, field goal, touchdown and even the two-point safety have had their part in late rallies.

Georgia Tech had Duke whipped last week, but the Blue Devils took advantage of a fumble in the closing minutes to drive across the touchdown that gave them a one-point margin.

A late pass, bringing a 6-0 victory over Georgetown, kept Lafayette among the unbeaten eleven. Washington turned loose a long aerial in the fourth period to the Washington State, and the Texas Aggies likewise to dead-lock Texas Christian university. Maryland booted a field goal to edge out Virginia.

It was a long toss, with the minutes clicking away, that brought Southern California's victory over Ohio State.

Oregon State bumped off Washington, last year's Pacific coast leaders, with a touchdown pass in the last three minutes. And Oregon State became the victim when Idaho connected with a to go.

The Texas miners beat Texas touchdown pass with two minutes Teachers with a field goal in the final 60 seconds. Less than a minute remained when Penn State garnered its winning pointers over Bucknell.

The Texas Aggies, how expert at the business, came from behind to score twice in the last quarter to whip Manhattan. New York University outpointed Carnegie Tech with a rousing rally equal to anything Hollywood ever put on the screen.

Arkansas university's "passing-est team," saw Baylor toss an over-the-goal pass that whipped the Razorbacks in the last 30 seconds.

Nebraska sprang the season's first major upset by capitalizing on a fourth period break to beat Minnesota.

All the scoring in Santa Clara's 13-7 win over Stanford was packed into the final quarter. Cornell and Marquette punched hard in the closing minutes to beat Penn State and South Dakota, respectively.

Saints Receive Test at Redlands

FOOTE SEEKS SECOND WIN TOMORROW

Terriers Hope Fast Chargers to Carry Them Out of Cellar

CITRUS BELT PREP LEAGUE

W.	L.	Pct.
Santa Ana	1	0 1.000
San Bernardino	1	0 1.000
Pomona	1	0 1.000
Redlands	0	1 .000
Chaffey	0	1 .000

Redlands' Terriers, who are relying on a fast-charging line to carry them out of the Citrus Belt league cellar they occupied last season, will be the target as Santa Ana's Saints seek their second win on the Redlands' turf at 3 p. m. tomorrow.

Coaches W. W. (Bill) Foote and Joe Koegler currently have their local prep in a three-way tie for first place with San Bernardino and Pomona, but the standings are likely to be juggled considerably after tomorrow afternoon's round which also sends Pomona to San Bernardino for the "big game" and Riverside against Chaffey at Ontario.

Redlands dropped a 14-7 verdict to San Bernardino last week, the victors scoring on a safety, a 51-yard run and a six-yard plunge following a 70-yard march. Santa Ana got off to an auspicious start with a 7-6 victory over Chaffey at Poly field.

Yankee Slugger Has Another Big Season

NEW YORK. (AP)—Lou Gehrig's announced campaign to eclipse some of the marks Babe Ruth and Ty Cobb set up for the record books didn't get far during the 1937 season, but it was a big year for the "iron horse," nevertheless.

The Yankees' iron man first baseman revealed his ambition after the 1936 campaign. Through the recent season he succeeded only in wiping out two of the Bambino's all-time highs, and tying another.

But he was still the year's leading record-buster, accounting for six of the ten big league marks that were bettered, and one of the ten that were equaled.

All told, three of Ruth's records went by the boards. Gehrig passed the Babe's mark for the player driving in 150 or more runs for the most years, turning the trick for the seventh time in his career, and for the batter hitting for a total of 300 or more bases for the most years, collecting that total for the 12th time to end a tie with the Babe.

The other Ruthian swat standard to go was shattered by the Tigers' rookie wallop, Roundhouse Rudy York, when he clouted 18 homers during August, one more than the previous one-month top which Ruth set up during the September of his record-smashing season back in 1927.

By scoring 100 or more runs for the 12th year in his career, Gehrig deadlocked Ruth at the head of the record books. In addition, Larruping Lou stretched his consecutive-game playing record to 1965 games; played 150 or more games for the 11th year in his career for another new mark; set a new high of 20 homers with the bases loaded during his playing career; topped his own mark by scoring 100 or more runs for the 12th straight year, and broke a tie with Al Simmons for a new mark of 12 years in a row for driving in 100 or more tallies.

The most unusual mark of all for the books this season was that the Pittsburgh Pirate produced in whipping the Cincinnati Reds 21 times in 22 starts during the season, tying the all-time high for the most victories scored by one club over another in one year.

Paul Waner of the Pirates, set a National league record with 200 or more hits for the eighth year.

The all-day play, to be followed by a box supper and a dance Saturday night, will consist of the following:

Low gross and low net; first nine holes medal play; a row for driving in 100 or more tallies.

The most unusual mark of all for the books this season was that the Pittsburgh Pirate produced in whipping the Cincinnati Reds 21 times in 22 starts during the season, tying the all-time high for the most victories scored by one club over another in one year.

CORNELL, YALE CLASSIC NEAR

NEW YORK. (AP)—Football firing in the Ivy league, stronghold of eastern football tradition, so far has been sporadic, if that. But the Ivy leaguers will climb all over each other this Saturday, when Cornell invades the bowl to face Yale's opportunists and Dartmouth and Harvard meet for the forty-fourth time at Soldier Field.

Wrestling Last Night

NEW YORK. (AP)—Dean Detton, 207, Salt Lake City, and Vincent Lopez, 220, Los Angeles, drew, 1 hour, 16 minutes.

LOS ANGELES.—Gino Garibaldi, 215, Brooklyn, won in straight falls from Jules Strongbow, 265, Oklahoma.

PORTLAND Ore.—Pat Fraley, 230, Minneapolis, defeated General O'Brien, 215, Los Angeles, when O'Brien disqualified for roughness after each had won a fall.

SPORTS Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK. (AP)—That Tony Lazzeri-Chicago Cub situation has everyone around here puzzled. What will come off? ... Are you asking us? Well, we're asking you ... Just suppose Tony signs up as coach (on condition he'll manager the club in 1939) ... That would be a fine mess of fish, wouldn't it? ... There would be Grimm directing the Bruins from the bench, with the next year's manager whooping it up on one of the coaching lines ... Can either of 'em stand it? ... Tony's pals around b'way and 45th don't believe he'll go for such a bargain—if that's what's in the Chicago minds.

Well, gents may as well give up Saturday's winners today as tomorrow ... Here they are, but it's no fair to sue if we're wrong: Detroit over Boston college ... California over Southern California ... Duke over Colgate ... Texas Christian over Auburn ... Dartmouth over Harvard ... Syracuse over Maryland ... Alabama over George Washington ... Michigan State over Marquette ... Notre Dame over Navy (with all fingers crossed) ... Ohio State over Northwestern ... Rice over Texas ... Louisiana State over Vanderbilt ... Villanova over Bucknell ... Pitt over Wisconsin ... Cornell over Yale ... Texas Aggies over Baylor ... Washington over Stanford.

Boston fans who are busy signing petitions for Rabbit Maraville to manage the Bees are wasting their time ... He's already signed to stay at Montreal ... and 40,000 Clevelanders, who were pulling for Steve O'Neill via the same route, had no better luck to Gene as "a former heavyweight champion and alleged Shakespearian scholar" ... Omigosh!

Well, who's going to the Rose Bowl? ... Right now we'd say Alabama and California ... Mike Johnson won't wear a suit costing less than $150, but he sticks to 15-cent cigarettes ... Bill McKechie is looking for a couple of grade-A coaches out in Cincinnati ... Applicants for Travis Jackson's Jersey City job may as well save their stamps ... "Ole Bothy Henry Armstrong and Pety Saron are worrying about making 126 pounds for their featherweight title clash in the Garden Nov. 19 ... Big league club owners are ready to take their managers' tips and vote for a 25-man player limit at the winter meetings ... Present limit is 23 and are the pilots howling?

PUNTS & PASSES

BERKELEY. (AP)—University of California's undefeated Bears ruled 2 to 1 favorites today for their football classic here Saturday with Southern California.

After two sessions of routine scrimmages, the Bears' task things easy today and tomorrow, polishing up their aerial offense and planning a defense for expected thrusts by Ambrose Schindler, ace U. S. C. quarterback.

PALO ALTO. (AP)—Still not at full strength, 35 Stanford football players will entrain tonight for Seattle and their game Saturday with Washington. Left End Neil Rasmussen has a badly sprained ankle and Left Tackle Pete Zagar has a case of boils. Neither may play.

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—University of Idaho's football team is due here today to test the newly-found strength of the St. Mary's Gaels here tomorrow afternoon in the annual "kidd's day" game. The Vandals, slightly crippled by the loss of Tackle Stonke Pavok, were expected to hold a light practice upon arrival.

SANTA CLARA. (AP)—The unbeaten Santa Clara Broncos, who will play Loyola at Los Angeles Sunday, are hard at work attempting to curb their frequent fumbling. A party of 300 or so, including the Santa Clara band, will accompany the Broncos south Friday night.

Three years ago: Michele Fanelli, Italy, set new world record of 2:26:10 4-5 for 25-mile run; former mark 2:29:29 2-5 by G. H. Green of England.

Trailing by a single point at half time, Al's Lock and Key shop basketball club spurted past the strong Penhall Bros. quintet in the final period last night to take a closely contested 31-29 tilt in the Y. M. C. A. basketball league.

Displaying a high-scoring duo, Excelsior Creamery company's capt. ers had things all their own way as they tripped the Southern Counties Gas company, 31-18. Tree-Sweet trimmed Patterson's Dairy, 20-18, in the second game of the triple-header.

DOUBLE-HEADER TONIGHT

There will be two basketball games on the Y. M. C. A. floor tonight.

At 7:30, the Barr Lumber company will play Wilson's Dairy.

At 8:30, Manager Quentin Matzen's Woolen Mills launches its season in a practice game with the Ark cafe of Long Beach ... Matzen has a sterling list of players, including Doug Wilson, Leonard, Conkright, Tom Lacy, Harry Stanley, Paul Crain, Howard Merrill and Les Neel.

Kolkthor led the sizzling attack of Al's team in the last half with three field goals, piling up a total of nine points for the game. The score at half-time was 14-13, but close guarding by Guards Valentine, McChesney and Conkright kept Penhall's Hilton down to but four digits in the second half. He was high point man with 12 points.

Ed Eastham and L. Gadoin of the Excelsior creamery quintet were the sparks of the winners' attack against the Gas company. Eastham sank four free throws and three field goals to pace with Gadoin, who netted four field goals and a free shot. Excelsior went held to a 14-13 score at halftime but held Sprague down the rest of the way. Sprague scored 10 points.

Outclassed 11-6 in the opening period, Tree-Sweet came from behind to nip Patterson's Dairy in the closing minutes of play, being led by Roden who meshed eight points. Dwyer headed the dairy five with seven.

Vitt Realizes Life Ambition At Cleveland

OAKLAND. (AP)—When Oscar Vitt takes over his new job as manager of the Cleveland Indians next spring he will have realized an ambition cherished since his major league baseball playing ended in 1921.

The 47-year-old Californian, appointed yesterday under a two-year contract to replace Steve O'Neill, piloted the Newark club of the International league into first place by 25½ games.

"Hustle" will be the watchword. Vitt said. "I don't want any lazy players on my club. If the boys won't hustle, out they go."

"I have no recommendations as to changes in the operating personnel at this time."

Vitt said at his home here "I named my own terms and everything is just fine and dandy."

Born in San Francisco, Vitt played with the Pacific Coast league San Francisco Seals in 1910 and 1911, then went to Detroit, where he played through the 1918 season. He served with the Boston Red Sox from 1919 through 1921.

He took over management of the Salt Lake City club in 1925, and piloted Hollywood, to which the Salt Lake franchise was transferred, through 1934. Next season he took over the Oakland club reins and moved east to Newark in 1935.

Pluck, Not Luck!

Pluck, not luck, enables Frank G. Platt of San Francisco to shoot consistently in the 70's. He wants a national meet for one-legged golfers.

DONS STRESS LATERALS IN PRACTICE

Brushing up on the entire squad's offensive and defensive strength yesterday, Coach Bill Cook's Santa Ana Dons were preparing for their final drill this afternoon before lashing out against Glendale Jaycee in a practice game tomorrow night at the Municipal bowl.

The down-field lateral, with two and three Dons handling the ball, was stressed considerably yesterday.

Verne Rutledge, who started the season at center and who has been testing out the right wing position this week, shone in the scrimmage, snaring a long pass and smearing opposing interference.

Charles Mueller, stellar left half-back who performed most of the game at San Bernardino, may be unable to do any heavy work against Glendale. He was clipped during the Indian battle and has a sore leg.

Twelve Will Race Midgets Tonight

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Twelve pilots, scooting 75 laps around the Gilmore track in pint-sized cars, will entertain racing fans tonight.

Sam Hanks, present leader in the point championship, is expected to encounter tough rivalry from Karl Young, Ronnie Householder and Shorty Sorenson, among others.

DEAN DETTON'S BROTHER ON MAT CARD WITH COLEMAN

Two finish wrestling matches will be featured on Monday night's four-bout program at the Orange County Athletic club with a world middleweight championship bout between Bobby Coleman, claimant to the title, and Dory Detton, brother of Dean Detton, former heavyweight king, holding down the spotlight.

For the first time since wrestling became a weekly sports feature at the Highway 101 arena, a full card of middleweights and light-heavyweights will be seen in action.

Detton and Coleman clash in a three-fall finish match.

A one fall to a finish affair will bring together Young Stecher and Juan Del Rio, the Mexican madcap. They clash in a rematch, having wrestled to a hectic draw Monday night in one of the best bouts on the program.

Joe Parelli, claimant to the world light-heavyweight title, will appear in the three-fall, 45-minute semi-final, facing Dynamite Dunn.

Pat McGill, the Irish wonder from Balboa Island, has been signed for three matches. The clever Irishman whose blinding speed and uncanny wrestling leads veteran critics to believe he is headed for the world title, meets

CHOICE TILTS FOR SUNSET, ORANGE LOOP

H. B., Anaheim and Orange Begin New Sked on Home Turf

Two more of Orange county's athletic alliances, the Orange and Sunset leagues, officially open their 1937 schedules in six games tomorrow afternoon.

There will be football from one end of the county to the other on the following schedule:

Sunset league—Newport Harbor at Orange, Long Beach Jordan at Huntington Beach, Excelsior at Anaheim.

Orange league—San Juan Capistrano at Laguna Beach, Brea at Garden Grove, Tustin vs. Valencia at Placentia. The latter game has been reduced to a practice affair, Valencia having withdrawn from the championship race because of insufficient varsity material. Coach Clarence Bishop, however, preferred to remain in the league this fall to develop his reserves for 1938.

The two schools outside the county, Excelsior and Long Beach Jordan, will figure in the race for the Sunset league crown, with Excelsior being installed by some critics as co-favorite with Orange's Panthers, who won the Orange league title last year and have retained a good first string.

The Laguna Beach-San Juan Capistrano and Brea-Garden Grove games will shed considerable light on the Orange league race. Coach Bill Cole's Tustin Tillers, who defeated Huntington Beach 7-0 but lost to Orange 13-0 in warm-up tussles, have championship hopes.

Down at Huntington Beach, Coach Alvin Rebohn has shifted Ray Thomas from right tackle to right halfback and Eddie Freeman from right half to left half. Warren Hannigan and Roy Ormsby will be out of the lineup with cracked ribs.

Complete schedules of both leagues follow:

Orange League

NEWS OF ORANGE COUNTY COMMUNITIES

SCOUT LEADER TO VISIT AT NEWPORT

'Rendezvous' Draws National Commander

NEWPORT-BALBOA. — One thousand Sea Scouts who will attend the annual "rendezvous" here Nov. 26, 27 and 28 will be greeted by the national head of the Sea Scout organization, Harry Welch, assisting in arrangements for the affair, announced today.

Howard Gillette, national commander of the organization, informed Mayor Harry H. Williamson yesterday that he plans to attend the yearly affair which draws Scouts from California, Oregon, Arizona, Utah and Nevada.

Harrison White, county Scout executive, who is aiding the Newport harbor committee in charge of local arrangements and Los Angeles Scout leaders interested in the affair has announced that reservations already are coming in from many parts of the southwest, indicating an even larger attendance than last year's record-breaking event.

LIVE IN TENTS

This year headquarters will be established at the municipal camp grounds on the bank of Newport bay, where the visitors will be housed in tents furnished for the occasion. Cooking and dining tents have been arranged and piers, floats and boats arranged for the three-day program.

Included in activities planned for the rendezvous are swimming races, boating events, talks by high Scout officials and a general recreational program. Governor Frank Merriam has been invited to attend and inspect Scouts as he did last year, while high ranking navy and Coast Guard officials also are expected to be present.

BASE PLANNED

Included in early plans for the affair is a move in the Southern California district to establish a permanent Sea Scout base at Newport, with Los Angeles officials taking an active part in completion of such a plan. The City of Newport Beach already has granted use of considerable bay frontage for the purpose and has agreed to furnish certain materials for use in construction of the proposed base.

Working on the local committee in charge of arrangements are Mayor Williamson, Harbormaster Tommy Bouchee, John Siegel, assistant city engineer, E. B. Watkins, prominent American Legion leader and Welch, secretary of the chamber of commerce.

YOUTH CHURCH ANNOUNCED

PLACENTIA.—Inaugurating a new mode of Christian Endeavor for young people of the Placentia Presbyterian church, the first meeting of its "Youth Church" was held Sunday evening.

One of the first churches on the Pacific coast to establish this plan, the local organization, led by Dr. J. D. Brigham, pastor, accepted the idea at a Rally Week dinner several weeks ago. The idea behind the "Youth Church" is to form a church within a church, to be run entirely by young people. An assistant minister, ushers, and music and decorations committees, all young people, had complete charge of the evening services Sunday.

Allie Lou Mosier, temporary "Youth Leader" took the place of chairman for the meeting. An organ prelude was played by Bobbie Jerome and Margaret Gillian read the scripture. Prayer was led by Doris Tuffree and Beth Pickenpaugh played special music. Mrs. Ralph Raitt and Hal Polley took part in the program. A sermonette was given by the youth leader, Allie Lou Mosier, after which the group was dismissed.

The first church in California to hold the merged Christian Endeavor meetings, the Placentia Presbyterian is again pioneering into a new organization wherein the young people of the church will take an active part.

GROVE FARM CENTER ELECTS

GARDEN GROVE.—Mrs. Edward Chaffee was chosen to succeed Mrs. H. More than 50 members attended the meeting of the Woodrow Wilson P.T.A. Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. George Canfield conducted a business meeting in the kindergarten room.

Wilson P.T.A.'s carnival and Spanish dinner Friday night were particularly successful, which was reported this week. The former, directed by Mrs. W. A. Russell, netted a good profit, and the dinner was most enjoyable, served as it was by members of the executive board in gay-hued Spanish costumes. Mrs. Don Hillyard supervised the dinner.

Decorations were in charge of Mrs. E. Lippincott, while grade mothers supervised the carnival booths, assisted by the teachers. Judge Kenneth Morrison showed a movie, and Mrs. Ray Snyder and Mrs. E. Hanson were active in making arrangements.

WITHDRAWAL FIGHT OPENS AT ORANGE

ORANGE.—A resolution was adopted by the city council yesterday afternoon setting forth terms for withdrawal of the city from the joint outfall sewer district. A copy of the resolution was ordered sent to each member city in the district.

The withdrawal was stated to be in effect as of Nov. 1, 1937, and if Orange is allowed to withdraw all property in which the city has an interest is to be turned over to the other member cities. Orange asks the use of the sewer without charge, for one year after the withdrawal, but if the city's contemplated treatment plant is not finished by that time, would like the use of the sewer for an additional six months or less, at a reasonable rental.

The resolution stated that Orange feels the withdrawal to be an advantage to the other cities in that it would provide additional facilities for their use.

The WPA project for the building of a sewage treatment plant submitted by the city has passed the San Diego office and is now at San Francisco. It was announced by City Engineer C. C. Bonebrake.

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. ROBB

In the Oct. 16 issue of "The Digest," formerly known as the Literary Digest, on the first page appears the following article entitled "The Dross from the Gold."

It says, "Dr. Townsend is honest and sincere. His cause is just and right and will succeed if we are loyal. Every great leader and his cause have had traitors and opposition, but grew stronger thereby. This rift among the leaders is only exposed and removed the dross from the pure gold of the principles underlying. Dr. Townsend has been betrayed and lied about by those whom he trusted, but he and his plan remain the same. Thousands of the Townsend clubs are backing him and pushing forward with renewed energy and determination to enact his plan of recovery into law."

It's encouraging, to say the least, when a nationally-read magazine gives front page space to such truth as the article quoted conveys.

Dr. U. G. Littell, former president of Santa Ana Club No. 3, has informed the writer that a business meeting will be held at 7:30 this evening in Townsend hall at 509 West Fourth street with Phillip S. Doolittle presiding.

Huntington Beach Club No. 1 will meet at 7:30 this evening in Memorial hall on Sixth street, according to A. D. Marshall, president. He told the writer Tuesday while he was in Santa Ana that Rev. Josiah Tucker of Placentia would be tonight's speaker. Rev. Tucker is a very inspiring speaker who always has something worth saying. The public will be welcome.

George W. Lounsbury, president of Santa Ana Club No. 7, informs the writer that the meeting tomorrow evening at 7:30 will be held in room 33 in the Julia Lathrop school on South Main street. Arrangements have been made whereby this will be the permanent meeting place of the club hereafter.

The Santa Ana Club No. 5 held a mighty interesting meeting Tuesday evening, which the writer attended. Vice President J. A. Yergler presided and gave a brief but interesting talk to those present. He emphasized the importance of the drive for signers on the Townsend petitions and expressed his belief that the Townsend plan movement was experiencing a revival of great interest.

SET HEARING ON LICENSE DEMAND

Hearing of a petition to force the state to issue a driver's license to Alex Morales, jr., Anaheim, had been set today for Friday afternoon before Superior Judge G. K. Scovel.

Morales, owner of a tamale factory, was deprived of his license early this year on grounds he was an habitual violator of motor vehicle laws. Ray Ingels, director of motor vehicles, sustained the suspension after a hearing by highway patrol officers.

Morales' original driver's license expired last June 19, and he was refused a new one after taking the examinations, he alleges in a new petition filed by Attorney Leo J. Friis of Anaheim. The present petition asks that Ingels and Paul Mason, chief of the division of driver's licenses, be forced to issue Morales a new license.

BACKS ESTATE PAPERS FILED

Into the green metal drawer in the county clerk's office where Joseph M. Backs filed innumerable papers in his 19 years of service there, came yesterday the first papers in connection with his estate.

Following Mr. Backs' death Monday night, his brother, Edward P. Backs of Placentia, filed a petition for special letters of administration in the estate. The petition was necessary because some county funds and property still are in Mr. Backs' name as county clerk, and must be transferred immediately to his successor, B. J. Smith, who was appointed Tuesday.

The petition was approved by Superior Judge G. K. Scovel after approval by Mr. Backs' widow and daughter. The special administrator will serve until a regular administrator or executor is named.

The board of supervisors yesterday named the firm of Greenhaw, Diehl and Wright to make the necessary audit of the books in the clerk's office, made necessary by Mr. Backs' death.

H. S. STUDENTS WILL SKATE

Small brothers the city over were losing their skating shoes.

The skates were being borrowed by older brothers and sisters who go to high school. The click of steel against cement will sound tonight as several hundred high school students cavort on skates on the school's Pine street drive, between Ross and Barton streets.

"The Blue Danube" and other appropriate skating music will be played on a phonograph. The skating party is being sponsored by Beta Phi Delta, girls' service club. Festivities begin at 7 p. m. and end at 9 o'clock.

Smuggle-Thwarting Fun

By MILLARD BROWNE

Elaborate schemes to smuggle aliens across the American border provide juicy subject-matter for Hollywood movie-makers. But they're just part of the job for the Santa Ana office of the federal immigration and naturalization service. To be sure, alien smuggling is the most glamorous part of the immigration service's work, concedes Franklin Davis, office in charge.

Biggest part of the U. S. service's work here actually is in naturalization, but this work provides fewer thrills, and would hardly cause small boys' eyes to bug out like some of Davis' tales of smuggle-thwarting.

An inland immigration service like the office here primarily is a backstop for the border patrol—San Pedro seaport, and San Diego, Mexicali, El Centro and other points along the Mexican line.

Most illegal entrants are Mexicans, naturally, but there are quite a number of Japanese. The traditional movie version of sinister Chinese smuggling trade is mostly exaggeration, Davis claims, because smuggled Chinamen are rarely reported.

There was a time when Chinamen poured into the country, however. That was when the Mexican government announced its policy of forcing Chinese out. An average of about 10 a day were picked up down in El Centro during those days.

Last Chinese case on local record, though, was nearly a year ago. An American ex-convict in a high-powered car had loaded two Chinese and a Mexican in his rumble seat and was speeding up the coast when accosted by federal patrolmen at San Clemente.

He tried to run his hopped-up car right through the blockade, but the border patrol boys also had a speedy job and caught up. He's now doing an eight-year stretch in federal prison.

For emergencies like that, six immigration officers are stationed in the San Clemente district. They constantly check roads through the mountains, the main highway and the various coasts along the shore. Senior Patrol Inspector James Renshaw is in charge of this detail, and he himself has had enough experience to write a novel.

The majority of deportable aliens come into the country on their own power, either by foot or auto. Comparatively few have enough money to hire a professional smuggler.

And even if they did have money, Davis points out they'd be smarter to do the thing semi-legally—by posting a $1000 visitors' bond, then disappear and forfeit the money. That way, they have 60 days, or whatever time the permit grants them, in which to hide. Much less risky than paying a smuggler who might not get them across the border.

Quite a few illegal entrants are Mexicans who have been deported for one reason or another, and their only chance to return is to sneak back.

Last year was the best in history for the immigration inspectors. They caught more than 100 smugglers in less than 10 months. Only disappointment was that they all were petty cases of Americans or Mexicans ## who smuggled large consignments of Mexicans at a ridiculously low fee.

Southern California patrolmen also did a big business in catching "walkers"—the poverty-stricken Mexicans who walk across the border without professional assistance—during the last fiscal year. Nearly 200 of these landed in federal prisons to await deportation.

Most elaborate scheme Davis has heard of was a syndicate that contracted to bring in 60 Chinese and a boatload of narcotics all at once several years ago.

The syndicate chartered a ship in China, came all the way across the Pacific, intending to land at some sheltered cove along San Diego or Orange county. The U. S. immigration service had wind of the scheme, however, and joined the coast guard in combing the coastline from Santa Barbara to Tijuana.

The patrol finally picked up a scout, succeeded in breaking the boat's contact with its ground men, tailed the ship for several weeks, and finally sent it racing back to China with its crew nearly starved. It was a $3,000,000 scheme that blew up.

Though the coastline from Newport to San Clemente used to be good territory for run-running, it isn't used much by smugglers, according to Davis. There's too much open country for aliens to cross before they can get themselves lost in a city.

Most ocean smuggling is done by Japanese fishing boats. Japanese get "in transit" permits to go through the United States to the large oriental colony in lower California, stay there for awhile, and finally hide in a fishing boat until they get a chance to land at a U. S. port. Coast guard patrols have these tactics under pretty fair control, however.

Airplanes were used frequently until depression and a high "accident" rate made them unprofitable. Right planes, ranging from old Joads to Ford tri-motors, were picked up in less than a year. Planes were confiscated and runners sent up for a long enough period to discourage any widespread aerial smuggling.

Usual penalty for illegal entrants is deportation. Smugglers, however, can get as much as five years in federal stir for each alien brought in. Heaviest smuggling sentence on record in this district is 19 years and six months. It was imposed against an American convict with a long-prison record who was caught after a merry chase. He'd been using middlemen to do the dirty work and take the rap, while he collected the profit. His conviction was the testimony of two of his "runners."

Not all persons who entered the country illegally are deportable, Davis explains. If they were, half of Orange county's Mexican population could be deported, he estimates.

Those who have been here since before 1921—and who have not been in serious legal trouble—can petition for legalization of their residence. Only way they can be deported is for them to be convicted of a crime that would make any alien, even if he entered legally, subject to deportation.

When Davis conducts a deportation hearing, he acts as an arbiter rather than prosecutor. He submits a full record of the case, together with his findings and recommendations, to a board of review in Washington which has final decision.

Davis gets clues about both smugglers and illegal entry cases from every conceivable source. A big percentage, however, come from careful study of jail and police blotters, from informants who may figure aliens are getting work that should go to citizens, and by "just looking."

"We frequently can pick out an illegal entrant as he walks along the streets or highways," the local immigration boss remarked. "His clothes may have a foreign appearance, or he may be more self-conscious than he should be."

FILTER SUIT MOVED TO COURT HERE

A $1144.30 suit against Mrs. L. A. Turner, proprietor of the Santa Ana Iron works, was transferred to the superior courts here today from Los Angeles municipal court, where it originally was filed.

The suit was brought by Giovanni Monaci, proprietor of the Garvey winery at Rosemead, for damages in connection with his purchase from Mrs. Turner of a wine filter early this year.

Monaci contends the filter was delivered later and was incapable of filtering wine properly. The suit was transferred on a motion for change of venue by Charles Swanner, Mrs. Turner's attorney. Monaci asks judgment for $200 assertedly paid as a down payment on the filter, $100 for his old filter, $328.30 for damages because of delay in delivery, $315 for spoiled wine, $56 for salary of an attendant, $7 for electricity, $18 for supplies, and $120 for excess in price of a new filter at the market price after he rejected Mrs. Turner's filter.

WOODS WINS IN TALK CONTEST

J. Lee Woods won the speaking contest held last night at Daniger's cafe by Smalley chapter of Toastmasters. In his talk, "Critic or Crank," Woods said most criticism in every-day life is based on selfish personal opinion rather than intelligent and constructive thought.

Other speakers were James Workman, Jack Peters, Daniel Brown and James A. D. Brown. Workman told of an experience with the village fire-fighters in action encountered while he was bicycling through Germany in 1928. Jack Peters told his life's history in his first speech before the club. Daniel Brown won second place in the voting with a speech on current national politics. James Anderson enlightened the members with a speech on "Business Conditions."

The individual critics for these speakers were, respectively, A. T. Kline, Fred Walker, Dr. Perry Davis, Don R. Equals and George DeRouillac. Sam Long was dictionary critic, and Eugene Kruger was general critic. The speakers were introduced by Toastmaster Harry M. Kemmerer.

U. S. Joins In Condemning Aggression

(Editor's Note.—This is the last of a series of three articles dealing with the background of the war situation in China.)

By CHARLES NORMAN
AP Feature Service Writer

The thunder of Japanese guns outside Mukden the night of September 18, 1931, almost played a funeral march of the League of Nations.

To the League's failure to halt the Nipponese invasion of Manchuria and its subsequent inability to prevent the carving out of the puppet state of Manchoukuo many observers have ascribed the wave of "international lawlessness" that followed, particularly the conquest of Ethiopia, the Spanish civil war, and piracy in the Mediterranean.

U. S. ACTED IN 1931
The United States, as a signatory of the Nine-Power Treaty guaranteeing the territorial integrity of China, expressed concern in 1931, just as it was to do in the second Sino-Japanese crisis this year. In each case, the League denounced Japan's invasion, and in each case the United States concurred in the League's findings.

Since 1931, the American government has become directly concerned in four international disputes considered at Geneva—the Manchurian crisis; the Bolivia-Paraguay dispute over the Gran Chaco boundary, significant as the first major dispute on the American continent to come before the League; the boundary dispute between Peru and Colombia in which the United States worked hand in hand with the League for a settlement; and the Italo-Ethiopian war in which America invoked its neutrality act.

On September 21, 1931, China appealed to the League under the Covenant and the United States as a signatory of the Nine-Power Treaty.

STIMSON BACKS LEAGUE
On September 24 Secretary of State Stimson addressed the League thus: "I assure you that the Government of the United States is in whole-hearted sympathy as expressed in the Council's resolution (which called for cessation of hostilities) and will dispatch to Japan and China notes along similar lines."

It was the first direct communication from the United States, whose non-membership had been a major factor in the life of the League from its inception. The next month, Prentiss Gilbert, American consul at Geneva, sat in on the Council's deliberations as an observer and auditor.

On December 10 the League Council adopted a resolution which reaffirmed the resolution calling for cessation of hostilities, and evacuation of occupied territory; invited information on events in Manchuria, and appointed a commission of five to study the situation on the spot.

On December 11, Secretary Stimson issued an endorsement of the League's resolution, later declared the American government's position in a strong note to both China and Japan.

RESOLUTION PASSED
Nevertheless, in February, 1931, Japanese troops bombarded Shanghai. On March 11 the League Assembly passed a resolution which supported Secretary Stimson's doctrine of non-recognition and opposed settlement of the dispute under military pressure.

The Lytton report exonerated

When these Japanese soldiers pushed into Chinese Manchuria in 1931, America joined the League in an unsuccessful attempt to stop them with words. Today Japan again advances into China, and again America joins the League in condemning her aggression.

China, declared Japan the aggressor, reaffirmed the doctrine of non-recognition and made recommendations for a settlement. The report was denounced by Japan, which took steps to resign from the League.

History repeated itself on October 6, 1937, when the League Assembly gave its moral support to China, condemned Japan and warned of possible international action unless the Japanese agreed to a peaceful Nine-Power settlement.

TRY, TRY AGAIN

PINOPOLIS, S. C.—Dick Mercer and his brother, Billy, went fishing.

Two trout hit the line and one was pulled in—the other got away with a set of hooks.

A little later they got another bite and hauled in their prize. It was the fish with the hooks.

LOSING FACE

WHEELING, W. V.—The town clock here will be heard but not seen for some time to come.

Workmen removed the four faces of the landmark atop the municipal building but left the clockworks to ring out the hours.

EGG FACTORY

ATLANTA.—"Mae West," a quail hen, did more than her share toward restoring Georgia's wild life.

Purser Collins, state quail farm superintendent, said ambitious "Mae" laid 130 eggs in 22 weeks—seven times her weight.

A BAD START

MOHINVILLE, Ore.—"New Start, Inc." was just getting started when Justice P. P. Olds put a stop to it. Charles Montrose and Frank Borovatz said "New Start" was a plan to promote anti-crime education.

Justice Olds gave them 30 days on a charge of defrauding an innkeeper.

LEASE PLAN IS APPROVED BY MENTON

A maneuver by which two Orange county school boards purchased equipment worth more than $6000 without calling for bids was successful today.

County Auditor W. T. Lambert prepared to pay off in small bits warrants for the purchase of auditorium seats, and desks and chairs, ordered by Valencia and Santa Ana districts, respectively.

PROCESS LEGAL
District Attorney W. F. Menton has ruled the process legal, and Lambert said today amounts would have to be paid off, provided no one warrant is for more than $500, in Valencia's case, or $1000, in the case of the Santa Ana district.

The two districts bought the equipment from the American Seating company on what is called a "rental lease" agreement, amounting to installment buying by an individual.

LAW REQUIRES BIDS
By law, the boards must call for bids on all purchases over their legal limit.

Warrants in question totaled $890, and they were held up by Lambert pending final decision on legality of the transaction.

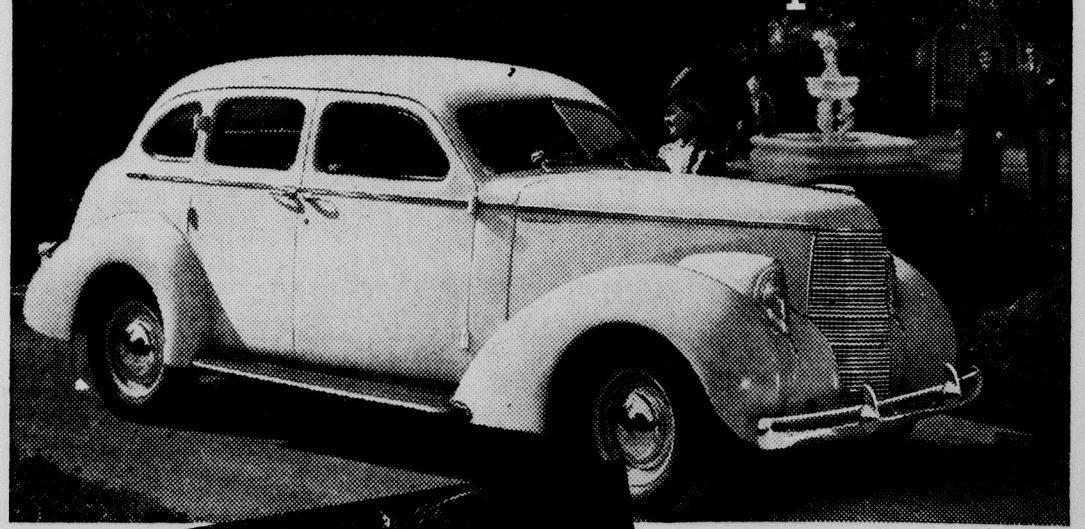

Lambert said the Placentia warrants would be paid off, and that he was preparing to make the same arrangement on the Santa Ana bills.

Mary Stoddard Court Case of Unwed Mother Slaying Her Baby Is Lesson for Parents

To my way of thinking no more pathetic drama has been unfolded in the courts of the land than the case recently of a young girl being tried for the murder of her new-born, fatherless child. The stark tragedy of a girl so close to childhood bearing the agony of impending motherhood, without benefit of clergy or support from the man who shared the responsibility for the birth, must have been unbelievable torture. Every day to know that the time was a little nearer when she must go alone to a hospital—every night to wonder what she would do with the child when it came! If she didn't go a little insane one would wonder. There are some things that human flesh can stand.

NEW YORK TO PARIS BY AUTO...

Imagine driving a mile in an automobile in 1908 through snow up to your wheel tops, across streams, along railroad tracks and over rock-strewn, bumpy stretches hardly worthy of being called a road — multiply that by 13,341 miles and you will have a mild idea of the trip made by the Thomas "Speedway Flyer" in winning a New York to Paris auto race more than 29 years ago.

Sponsored jointly by an American and a French newspaper, the race started on February 12, 1908, from Times Square, New York City. Six cars roared off on the journey, loaded down with extra gas and oil tanks, spare parts, camping and cooking outfits, picks, axes, shovels and guns. Three of the entries were French, one German, one Italian and one, the "Speedway Flyer," American. Across the country, heading for San Francisco, the cars went with plans for the route including a trip through Alaska, across 80 miles of the ice-covered Bering Strait to Siberia, on through Siberia to Europe and then Paris, France.

Dear Judge: Was there ever a radio announcer who didn't describe the football crowd as "going wild?" T. P. G.

Yes, and the broadcasting company figured that was proof he was crazy. They took him off the network and sent him to the networks the next day. STUMP.

Modern Version: You can lead a horse to water, if you can find a horse and some water.

Santa Ana Journal

Published daily except Sunday by John P. Scripps Newspapers at 117 E. Fifth Street, Santa Ana, Calif. Braden Finch, editor; E. F. Elstrom, business manager. Telephone 3600 for news, circulation and advertising departments.

Subscription rates: By mail, $7.50 a year; by carrier, 65 cents a month; from newsboys and news stands, 3 cents a copy. Entered as second-class matter May 1, 1935, at the postoffice of Santa Ana, California, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Alf Landon and Boake Carter

In his Tuesday night radio address, Alf M. Landon said, "I wish to suggest ways and means by which we, the minority party, can be of outstanding service to our country."

Certainly it is true that an aggressive and intelligent opposition party can be of great benefit to the nation. The British understand this principle and use it with effectiveness. Certainly at the present time the Republican party should play such a role.

Later in the course of his address Mr. Landon went into detail as to how the opposition should operate. When measures are in the legislative hopper, he said, the members of the opposition "tell you all the things that are wrong. They tell you all the reasons why it won't work. They give you the information that enables you to plug up the loopholes and draft a law that will work after it is passed."

So far so good. But Mr. Landon omits one vital ingredient in the recipe—to do all this successfully the minority party must have a definite, constructive program of its own.

Another public figure who has just been discussing the same subject, namely, Boake Carter, radio commentator, recently said:

"The duty of the minority political party in any democracy is to criticize the majority party. If it does not do that, and do it successfully, then democracy ceases to be."

"But no minority political party can criticize intelligently, successfully, unless it has an affirmative program."

"This the Republican party does not possess, for it is still run by the old guard leaders, who seem to be mentally incapable of realizing that a great change has come, not only over the United States but the world at large, since 1930."

The plan for holding a great assembly of the G. O. P. at an early date to formulate such a program, if possible, thus becomes of importance not only to party members but to all Americans. For our American system does need both an effectually functioning majority and a close-knit, unified opposition if it is to achieve the fullest measure of healthful democratic government.

Isn't it about time for the police to issue their annual bluff about jailing youngsters who soap automobile and store windows on Halloween?

Keep Santa Ana Boulevard Clear

Another practical reason why Santa Ana boulevard should be kept free from service stations, shacks and hot dog stands is the safety angle.

On Highway 101, beyond the county hospital, the road is lined with business establishments. Cars are constantly driving in and out.

As a result, traffic through this area is hazardous because of the confusion, it seems to us, and accidents are far more likely to occur than on stretches where business houses do not send their steady flow of side traffic into the main stream.

The danger results also in considerable slowing down of the traffic movement, as anyone may see by taking the trouble to drive out and watch each section.

Let's keep Santa Ana boulevard free from business development—for safety's sake as well as aesthetic reasons.

Soviets have been eliminated as government agencies in Russia. Maybe Mr. Stalin made a mistake in one of his purges.

Our Obsolete Alphabet

This is a true story about a high school dramatics class for juniors and seniors (not, however, in Santa Ana).

One day recently the pupils were asked by the instructor to register a certain series of emotions, accompanying the action not by words but by pronunciation of the letters of the alphabet.

Believe it or not, out of the 34 students called upon, only four knew the order of the 26 letters in their mother tongue!

They simply don't teach the alphabet any more, we're told, in some schools. How their graduates go about consulting the dictionary or the telephone directory we can't surmise. If they're looking for a word beginning with "m," for instance, the bewildered youths probably just go on thumbing through the pages until they come to it.

It is easy nowadays to produce an artificial fever. What is difficult is producing genuine calm in view of world events.

Hot Money

Between January 2, 1935, and June 30, 1937, foreign capital totaling $3,551,147,000 flowed into the United States.

The greater part of this huge sum is what is known in Wall Street as "hot money," funds that are here only on a temporary basis, ready to dodge across an ocean in almost any direction and return to their point of origin on almost a moment's notice.

This epidemic of "hot money" may have something to do with the present chills-and-fever condition of the stock market.

La Guardia is being boomed for the G. O. P. presidential nomination in 1940. After the Sun Flower, the Little Flower.

How Old Is Ann?

And now, just because everybody is so serious, what with war threats, peace talk, supreme courts, special sessions, rising h. c. l. and a few other things, here's reviving a pre-war problem that has never been settled to our satisfaction:

Mary is 24 years old. She is twice as old as Ann was when she was as old as Ann is now. How old is Ann?

The prize for the right answer is a sugar bun.

FAIR Enough

Another Undeclared Conflict

By

Westbrook Pegler

As the peacemakers of the nine powers converge on Brussels to strive for a happy solution of the problems of a troubled world, solemn news comes from Pawtucket, R. I., where another undeclared war is raging in awful fury. It is the war of the wild Irish roses, in which the governor, Mr. Robert Quinn, has mobilized the national guard to punish Mr. Walter O'Hara the proprietor of the Narragansett horse park, for the crime of less majesty.

Mr. O'Hara, through his own newspaper, supposedly called the governor a "same some time ago, and one swear word led to another until now the armed forces of the state are on active duty in the field and a pathetic mass of inoffensive non-combatant troops, trainers, swipes, monkeys, gimbys, mutual clerks, swappers and horse players are caught between the lines.

The great, free American press, handmaiden of our liberties, also seems to have caught her jabot in the wringer, for she is yelling bloody murder at this writing. The governor's army has ejected from the zone of combat a journalist representing Mr. O'Hara's paper and the editors are raising the dread cry of "censorship."

In this situation, the war correspondents of the eastern seaboard are kissing their families farewell and preparing to leave for the front, and who knows but that the war of the wild Irish roses will develop its own Webb Millers and Floyd Gibbonses, for it has all the symptoms of a terrible mess.

RABBIT'S FOOT

The problem of field equipment has been worrying some of the journalists, however, and when your correspondent wired the war correspondent of the Daily Walking Horse at the front he was told to bring his own dice, a rabbit's foot, and plenty of fresh money.

Your correspondent talked with Governor Quinn by phone and received word that that other wild Irish rose, Mr. O'Hara, had attempted to set at naught the laws of the fair state of Rhode Island and would be restrained by the full might of the unconquerable warriors of his first Rhode Island regiment of foot.

Mr. Eugene Moriarty, another wild Irish rose, who is manager of Mr. O'Hara's fearless journal, declared there was much more in the situation than meets the eye, and Mr. Mulligan, city editor of the Pawtucket Times, which is neutral in the conflict, said there was even more to the situation than meets the nose, although the nose grasps a pretty fair idea.

Mr. Mulligan, an Irish rose, if you will, is not wild yet, but neutrality undoubtedly is a great emotional strain on a Mulligan in a non-private conflict involving the Quinns, the O'Haras and the Moriartys and a Keneally, which was rushed out of the war zone by a detachment of Governor Quinn's invincible legions.

THE BEST PEOPLE

Governor Quinn has been contending all along that Mr. O'Hara's horse park has attracted to Rhode Island undesirable characters of extreme unsportsmanship who were not above acts of dishonesty. This is indeed a grave charge, never having been heard of before in connection with horse running, which, as everyone knows, is the sport of kings, patronized by the very best people.

It would be an astonishing thing if it were true that Mr. O'Hara's horse park had drawn persons capable of telling falsehoods or fumbling up the odds or using an electric gimmick on man's best friend, the steed. All right-minded citizens will hope and pray that the wild Irish rose of the state-house is mistaken in his foul aspersions.

The governor also charges that Mr. O'Hara has had an evil effect on the purity of public office in Pawtucket, another unthinkable allegation against not only the high character of the local statesmen but the fair name of horse racing as well.

Just one happy fact remains. It will have to be a small war, because if more than 10 wild Irish get to fighting at one time in the limited area of Rhode Island they are certain to slop over into Connecticut or Massachusetts to find room in which to take their swings.

Then they will be arrested and interned until the end of the war of the Wild Irish Roses.

NOW IT CAN BE TOLD
"We are told by a friend in the United States," writes W. B. Burton-Baldry from London, "that the real reason Colonel Lindbergh is now living in England is that he came over to collect the war debt." Sure. That's why they call him the Loan Eagle.—Investment Dealers' Digest.

EVERYDAY MOVIES

"I gotta dollar left over outta my pay, and I can't decide whether to get a new hat of have the hole in my shoe fixed."

Twenty-Five Years Ago

OCT. 21, 1912
The board of education inaugurated a new policy of giving periodical eye, ear, nose and throat examination to all grade pupils in city schools. Superintendent J. A. Cranston presented the plan for adoption. Dr. C. H. Brooks was appointed to take care of the work.

Total prizes of $4853 won in the recent Chicago air meet by Glenn L. Martin of Santa Ana sent him to the top of the prize list, over a field of more than 20 outstanding airmen.

ATHENS.—The Greek army today defeated the Turkish troops beyond Ellassona after a vigorous attack and the Turks are now retreating to the town of Servia, according to a dispatch from the front.

RIVERSIDE.—On grounds that the progress of the virtually disfranchised regular California Republicans, the Taft Republicans of Riverside yesterday followed Orange county's example and endorsed the candidacy of Woodrow Wilson, Democratic nominee.

What Other Editors Say

Born wealthy, educated at Harvard, poised for a dignified career at the bar in New York and in the inner financial circles of Wall Street, Ogden Mills ran out on the social tradition of his class. He entered the hurly-burly of public life.

In congress, and later as under secretary and secretary of the treasury, he won respect for his mastery of fiscal, tax and financial problems. Incidentally, Ogden Mills was the first outstanding advocate of abolition of tax-exempt government bonds. Tax-exemption and a graduated income tax, he said, could not exist side by side.

With few public men has this newspaper disagreed more frequently or vigorously than with Ogden Mills. Yet for few men did it have greater respect. He was able, intelligent, hard-hitting, honest in his convictions.

Thinking over the whole list of Republican conservatives still alive, we can't offhand name one of the caliber of Ogden Mills. That there were not more of his capacity goes a long way toward explaining why ours is now a one-party government, and why a heady Democratic majority in power gets away with so many blunders.—Washington (D. ### The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

(Editor's Note.—This is the last of three Merry-Go-Round surveys of the present economic condition of the country.)

Roosevelt can stop slump with centralized government power; depression fear counted on for new laws in special session; currency from gold, housing, crop control would prime pump; present recession no worse than two New Deal has weathered.

WASHINGTON.—During the very early days of the New Deal, newspapermen filed into a White House press conference to find on Roosevelt's desk a sheaf of charts showing the peaks and valleys of an even economic keel, slightly upward, but at not too great a speed.

Then he went on to explain in detail the principle of controlled production behind the NRA and AAA.

Today, the President faces the task of carrying out his 1933 market slump, which some barons of business fear is spreading to the country.

FAVORABLE FACTORS

Fortunately there are two factors which would make it fairly simple for him to do this:

1. Government has become so centralized in recent years, especially under the New Deal, that it is much easier, by throwing the force of government into an economic breach, to check it.

2. Slight business recessions are usual when a nation is climbing back to prosperity. Two already have occurred during the New Deal, both a little worse than the present. Therefore the present recession should be checked the more easily.

The most severe slump since the New Deal occurred in the summer of 1933, just five months after Roosevelt took office. Stock values dropped one-half of what they had gained, and it took eight years for them to come back to the July, 1933, level.

There was another drop in the summer of 1934, lasting five months, during which stocks went back to their 1933 lowest levels.

Three minor business drops occurred, in addition to the above, none of them serious.

In other words, climbing out of a depression is a process of fits and starts, and this was also true in previous depressions.

ENGLAND'S ATTITUDE

To the Editor: Do you seriously consider that England has any regard for democracy in Spain or anywhere else except the tight little island?

You may call to mind that last November "volunteers" poured into Madrid and saved the day for the anarchist-communist-syndicalists. Gen. Kleeber from Russia, notably, helped form the defense. No mention was ever made of Italians in those days. When the so-called loyalists held, it became necessary to upset the balance, so Italians came into Spain under the nose of and with the immediate knowledge of England. The time to protest was then.

Now the scale is tipping back the other way. No one thought that Franco could clean the northern front and unite his forces for a drive in the east.

Do you consider that the truth may be that England wants Italy out of Spain before the victory so as to stop Italy's claim to preferred treatment when the raw material concessions are being handed out? Don't you think that with Italy planted somehow in Spain, Gibraltar would no longer be valuable even as advertising for the insurance men? Do you think that maybe England will whitewash Ethiopia (if the present outbreak does not stick) and give Franco belligerent status, persuade France to keep the frontier closed (as much as it is closed) and then hope for the best?

IT'S ODD

But It's Science

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

AP Science Editor
WOODSHALE, Mass.—No matter how much it investigates, science doesn't get a really satisfactory explanation of death by freezing.

Investigations of what happens during freezing always leave a loophole, something still unexplained, which can be used by a ro-mancer to predict that some day a refrigerator will be built capable of suspending man's animation for a century or so.

The "farthest north," scientifically speaking, in facts discovered on death by freezing is the effect on the mechanism of the cell. The cells of which man is made are visible individually only under a microscope.

When death comes by any other means than freezing, as by heat, injury or poison, the protoplasm in living cells coagulates. It turns from the appearance of the white of a fresh egg to that of one hard-boiled.

But Dr. Basile J. Luyet of St. Louis university, reporting to the Marine biological laboratory here, finds the protoplasm does not coagulate in cells killed by freezing. Nobody can uncoil an egg. But in a few cells, which are exceptions to the general cell rule, and take on a hard-boiled aspect with freezing, a good thaw "unboils" their protoplasm.

In death by freezing, Dr. Luyet finds that the protoplasm changes, but just how is not yet fully known.

I'll Tell You

By BOB BURNS

I honestly believe these directors and producers out here in Hollywood are the finest and most kind-hearted bunch of men I have ever seen.

When I use a go to 'em tryin' to get a certain part in a picture, I never did get the part but I always left feelin' a little bit better than when I went.

They usually turned me down by tellin' me I was too tall and handsome for the part. When a woman goes in to get a part in a picture, she always comes out of their office beaming because she either has gotten the part or the director has told her she's much too young for the part.

I believe Grandpa Snazzy would make a good moving picture executive because he can always think of a good excuse. I remember one time a neighbor came over and wanted to borrow Grandpa Snazzy's new rope and I got to use that rope today to tie up some sand." After the neighbor left, I says "Grandpa Snazzy, you know you can't tie sand with a rope!" Grandpa Snazzy says "Remember, my boy, you can't tie sand with a rope!"

WHIMSIES

DAY BY DAY

With O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK.—Now and then they cling, like barnacles to a modern liner, stores, restaurants and offices out of a vanquished past. On a reach of downtown Prince street is a little grocery that is just as it was when it opened for trade 40 years ago.

On its shelves is a scant array of tinned goods. There is the dill pickle barrel open at the top and the leaning basket of dried apricots. When the front door opens a bell rings in the rear and the stooped and be-whiskered proprietor blinks out of the depths.

At dusk a single coal oil lamp illuminates the place. It is probably more antiquated than any Cross Roads store in the Flatbush section of Brooklyn has package baskets zinging on wires.

New York's most exclusive bank—the First National—recently built a new home, but it retained the roll top desks of long ago with the president's out in the open for all to see. And obeying the unwritten law that his hat must be at all times on top of his desk.

They have persuaded Chico Young, creator of the comic strip featuring the precocious child "Blondie," to carry on. When the artist's child, the prototype of the strip, passed on recently, the anguished parent declared he would never draw another. For many weeks he appeared stunned and could not be aroused from his lethargy. Finally they induced him to sit at his drawing board for awhile daily, and gradually he took up his popular chore again.

Conversion of the famous country home of Billie Burke, Burkley Crest, at Hastings-on-Hudson, into a fine suburban hotel, will remove what at one time was the best known estate, next to John D. Rockefeller's Pocantico Hills, in Westchester. It was a background for some of Florence Ziegfeld's most elaborate spending sprees. Here at one time he garaged six Rolls Royces, built a dollhouse for his daughter, Patricia, said to have cost $20,000 and had a playground that in the most fashionable pet a baby elephant.

I am told that few window cleaners go for more than two years without a hair-raising escape from death. Despite the danger of the theater when it is high ledges, eventually they grow careless and find themselves dangling to one end of a strap, high in mid-air. If they have successfully passed through the mishap they rarely meet death at their work. Considering the hazards of their ledger, the death rate is astonishingly low.

My favorite of all New York theaters is the venerable and stately Empire. In the decor of a vanished past, it has gone down hill with an air. And today it attracts the most fashionable first night audiences. Katharine Cornell usually plays there as do Nazimova and Gielgud and somehow in the misty shadows one feels the presence of Charles Frohman, John Drew and so many more of the theater when it was a real theater. This season it displays the talents of Burgess Meredith and Lillian Gish in a play fittingly dated for the Empire—the Gay 90's. Between the foyer and the theater proper there is a carpeted promenade, and from the walls gaze down the autographed likenesses of the theatrical great of yesteryear. Coming into it from the noisy world outside, it distills a feeling of peace, like some country meeting house without hurry or self-consciousness.

Thingumbos: Bert Fitzgibbon, the famous daffydill comedian of the vaudeville days, is recovering after two years in bed with a cracked spine near Boston. . . . Marcel Proust, famous French writer, could stand no light that of a single flickering candle. . . . Alma Clayburgh is visiting the Claude Bouweres on the Spanish border. . . . J. Edgar Hoover is an indefatigable follower of the comic strips. . . . Eddy Duchin, despite his success as a bison welder, still wants to be the proprietor of a corner drug store.

BRIGHT MOMENTS

During the time of George II of England, religious services were often disrupted by the action of members of the court at divine worship. Winton, the clergyman, openly hinted that this condition be brought to an end, and when that did no good, took the queen to task. Caroline, the queen, had part of the blame on the king, acknowledged her fault and promised to remedy it. Then she asked what was her next offense. "Madame," said the clergyman, "there is not enough to go into your other faults after you have remedied the first."
